

Footballers Ease Up on Heavy Work

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Both high school All-Star football squads are easing off drills in preparation for Saturday's conflict, while on the basketball scene starting lineups are emerging.

The West side squad went through its last scrimmage yesterday, concentrating on offense and defense near the goal. East drills also stacked off, but had one lineup change. Gary Robinson of Little Rock Central moved into the top left halfback spot over Sammy Hilburn of Walnut Ridge.

Coach Mickey O'Quinn said, "It's not through any fault of Hilburn's. It's simply that Robinson fits into the defense on the first unit."

While the cage coaches haven't actually named their five starters, the top lineups appear to be Jim Mahness, of Hot Springs, Doug McKinney, of Mulberry, Johnny Vocant, of Fort Smith, Donnie Bailey, of Green Forest and Arlene Jones, of Harrison, for the West and Larry Hogue, of North Little Rock, Freddy White, of Blytheville, Don Shatley, of Leadville, Dennis Kessinger, of Forrest City and Dub Wilson, of North Little Rock, for the East.

Both basketball teams devoted yesterday's workouts to drills, scrimmages and shooting.

West Football Coach Harry Denison of Crossett, dubbed Charles Jacob, of Texarkana for his punting and forecast a lot of kicking.

Campaign Probe Is Resumed

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A Sebastian County Grand Jury today resumed its investigation of the campaign for 10th District chancellor.

The jury heard three witnesses yesterday.

Circuit Judge Paul Wolfe instructed the jury to investigate all phases of the campaign in which Fort Smith Municipal Judge James L. Langston ran against Chancellor Franklin Wilder.

Wilder was renominated in the July 26 Democratic primary.

A number of accusations were made during the campaign, and Langston has filed a libel suit as a result of some charges which were published in a Fort Smith weekly newspaper.

Smaller Farm Yield Seen for Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Agriculture Department has estimated that Arkansas soybean, rice, corn, oats and hay crops will be smaller than last year's yield.

But the department said that soybeans and rice should run well ahead of the 10-year average. And the winter wheat yield run above last year's figures and the 10-year average.

The department predicted that total production of principal crops in the state would be nine percent below last year's yield, but 10 percent above the 10-year average.

The soybean crop is predicted to reach 54,500,000 bushels, compared to 56,700,000 bushels last year and a 10-year average of 54,000,000 bushels.

The rice crop is predicted to run 12,448,000 hundredweight, compared to 12,639,000 hundredweight last year and a 10-year average of 10,349,000 hundredweight.

Other crops with this year's estimated figure, last year's and the 10-year average:

Corn: 11,121,000 bushels; 14,045,000; 18,043,000.
Winter wheat: 4,000,000 bushels; 3,600,000; 1,401,000.
Oats: 5,328,000 bushels; 6,804,000; 9,217,000.
Hay: 896,000 tons; 1,011,000; 1,130,000.

The cotton crop earlier had been estimated at $1,365,000 bales compared to 1,544,000 last year and a 10-year average of 1,323,000.

The department said the general reason for the decrease in yield for all crops was a reduction of acreage.

The department yesterday estimated national rice production at 52,964,000 hundredweight, a drop from last month's estimate and last year's production, but still above the 10-year average. Last year's production was 53,122,000.

Tells About Russian Spy Now in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Evening Star says that while the Soviet Union was expelling the U.S. air attaché from Moscow Wednesday on espionage charges, four Soviet military attaches were winding up three busy days here collecting armloads of the latest defense information.

The story, reporting the observations of reporter Jerry O'Leary Jr., who followed the men through exhibits and lectures at the convention of the Assn. of the U.S. Army, says two other Iron Curtain military men from Poland were similarly occupied.

The Soviets were identified as Viktor P. Lobanov and Vsevolod S. Tavma, both being lieutenant colonels and assistant military attaches of the Soviet Embassy, and Vsevolod N. Generalov and August A. Yashin, assistant file attaches whose rank could not be learned.

The Poles were named as Capt. Edward Gordon of the military attaché's office in the Polish Embassy, and Roman Misztal, a clerk.

There was nothing illegal about the six Communist bloc men's three busy days—they were registered at the convention and had the credentials available to military attaches.

Neither was the data they crammed into bulging briefcases classified.

These included a T-14 tracked reconnaissance vehicle planned to replace the armored car or the light tank; a new configuration of the Nike-Zeus missile; an artist's conception of the Army's new Mauler, a mobile automatic air defense firing system with electronic computer; an SD5 drone, a typical warhead of about 200 m.m.; a "Red Eye" hand-carried antiplane weapon, and a working model of a Sadac computer.

Russians Expel an American

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union told the U.S. Embassy today that an American tourist identified only as Robert Christner has been expelled from the Soviet Union as a spy.

The embassy said it knew nothing about Christner and first heard of him in the note delivered from the Soviet Foreign Ministry this morning.

The note charged he had been sent to the Soviet Union in July to collect industrial and military intelligence. The note did not say when the expulsion took place.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the Foreign Ministry had warned the embassy against "exploiting tourists for intelligence purposes."

It was the fifth case of American spying charged by the Soviets since the downing of Francis Gary Powers' U2 plane May 1, and the second expulsion of an American citizen to be announced in as many days.

Col. Edwin M. Kirtan, the U.S. Air Attaché in Moscow, was ordered to leave the Soviet Union Wednesday. He was accused of organizing a spy apparatus and of photographing military installations. His assistant, Capt. Irving T. McDonald Jr. of Provincetown, Mass., was accused of similar activities but was not ordered out of the country. U.S. Charge D'Affaires Edward L. Freers rejected the charges.

DOROTHY DIX

A Girl's Coming of Age in 1960 America

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: I have been going steady six months. I am 15, he's 20. About three weeks ago he said his mother and father weren't getting along. She was leaving him. Then, for the first time, he told me about his mother. I could not respond to his advances. Since then he hasn't been the same.

All the time I was going with him he never came to the house. I met him in a little town near where I live. He doesn't ask me to meet him any more.

The boy I used to go with just came home from the Army. He and the first boy were 2-4 along. Every time he hears I've been to the little town he gets mad. My parents like this second boy. He comes to the house when we go out.

I can't seem to forget the first boy. What made him change? How can I win him back? My girl friend told me it could be because of his parents having trouble, or because of my not getting with him, or because he just got a new car. Please help me — I.

Dear L: Hard though it is, forget the first boy. If he had loved you he would have behaved honorably, come to your home and met your parents. Asking you to meet him in another town indicates just where you rate in his estimation. Never, in this world will you win him back by going

Mrs. Wilbur Carl Bruner, Jr.

The Hope Gospel Tabernacle was the setting on Monday evening, August 8 for the marriage of Miss Sydney Sue Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Houston, to Wilbur Carl Bruner.

White gladioli and jade trees enhanced the church altar where the Rev. W. C. Land performed the double ring ceremony. Prior to the exchange of vows, music was performed by Mrs. Hendrix Spraggins, organist, and Miss Susan Davis, vocal soloist. Miss Davis also sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion of the wedding as the couple knelt on a prie dieu.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a walk-length wedding gown of white silk bombazine trimmed with Alencon lace. The closely molded bodice was enhanced with the lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. It was accented with a portrait neckline and brief sleeves. Upon her head the bride wore a yellow hairloom, mantilla of complementing lace. She carried a white Bible on which was pinned a white orchid. Miss Mary Epler was the honor attendant for the bride. Her blue, walk-length dress was high lighted with a patent neckline, and her velvet and net handpiece was of a matching hue. She carried a crescent bouquet of yellow carnations.

Mr. Bruner served his son as best man. Ushers who also lighted the candles were T. C. Crawford and Dickie Laidler.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Houston wore a brown silk dress with bone accessories and had a corsage of blue carnations. A navy-blue eyelet dress was the choice of Mrs. Bruner, the mother of the bridegroom. She had matching necessities and a pink carnation corsage.

After the ceremony the wedding couple received their guests in the foyer of the church. There, Miss Kay Downing had charge of the bride's book.

For their wedding trip the bride wore a silk and cotton suit of black olive green. It had a fitted belt-line and a soft, sea-foam-colored, silk ascot. Her corsage was the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The newlyweds will be at home at 999 South Elm in Hope for the remainder of the summer. This fall they will both enroll in Henderson State Teachers College and will live in Arkadelphia.

Community Buries Abandoned Girl

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — A community that knew her only in death sorrowfully buried an unidentified little girl Wednesday. In a velvet casket with emotion Dr. Charles Franklin Parker of the Congregational Church told more than 70 Prescott residents attending the service.

"Somewhere someone is watching to learn what happened to a little girl left on the desert. If there has been a misdeed, probably a discolored conscience will go on and on."

The girl was found half buried in the Arizona desert south of Prescott July 31. She is believed to have been between 3 and 4 years old, but her identity and cause of death remain a mystery.

A campaign for funds to provide a decent burial was spearheaded by Dave Phillips, an announcer at Prescott radio station KVOA, and the girl became known as "Little Miss Nobody."

Session to Be Test for Mr. Johnson

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress renewed session which turned into a political Donnybrook right from its start—will be the toughest test of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's leadership.

The tall Texan, often called the most able Senate leader in the 20th century because of his ability in getting warring factions to work together to get things done, has his hands full this time.

Johnson, for the first time, is playing a dual role. He is not only captain of the Democratic-run Senate but is the Democrats' vice-presidential candidate.

He and his running mate, Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democrats' presidential nominee, came back to work with some ideas on what they hoped to get done before their election campaign gets under way in earnest in September.

Because the session had been planned to last only three weeks, they would have to work fast and the number of pieces of legislation they could hope to get through would have to be fairly limited.

Then Monday President Eisenhower handed a long list of things he wanted done. It would be impossible, if Congress followed its usual pace, to get all of them through in three weeks.

Eisenhower was aware of this when he said "I urge that we stay on the job until it is done; certainly we cannot adjourn the public interest."

But for one very obvious reason Congress isn't likely to stay at work very far into September. All House seats and one-third of the Senate seats are at stake in November and the members want to get back home to campaign.

But if the Democrats, led by Johnson, ignore much of what Eisenhower wants, the Republicans will have a campaign argument that the Democrats were big on promises, short on performance. Kennedy quickly indicated, but in very oblique language, that Eisenhower's basketful of suggestions was a political move.

The Massachusetts senator said: "A presidential message calling for action on bills previously vetoed, and complaining about spending after a broad series of 4 mandates, is not unexpected in an election year—but if it can be backed up with Republican cooperation and leadership, this will be a productive and constructive session."

Johnson also gave a political twist to the Eisenhower message. He said the President appears to be trying to "embrace vast portions of the Democratic platform."

What makes the whole business even more political is that five of the six most important men in the presidential campaign are

Dry Ice Fatal

BIFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Carbon dioxide fumes from dry ice he was using to freeze a pipe suffocated a plumber Tuesday night, police and Frank Fabiny, 35, of Buffalo, Lackawanna was found in a small enclosure under a house where he was working.

Debate Probable

NEW YORK (AP)—Agreement between the two candidates, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and Sen. John F. Kennedy, should meet in a debate on television and radio. The two candidates discussed at length with executives of four all sitting in the Senate. Besides Johnson and Kennedy, they are Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Nixon's running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican vice-presidential candidate, is U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

This is the first time in years when Congress, returning to work after the political conventions, could be judged by the voters before Election Day on how hard they tried to make good on the promises in their party platforms.

Every move in these next few weeks will be—or will be suspected of being—somehow hooked into political motives.

For all the following time until November, both parties will be blaming each other for any shortcomings, real or alleged.

VFW to Hear Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars said today Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, will address the group's first annual convention at Detroit, Aug. 24. Nixon, a World War II Navy veteran, is a VFW member.

The average annual temperature of Arkansas since 1891 has been about 61 degrees.

Johnson, as Senate leader, has the task of trying to get Democrats and Republicans to work together under circumstances different from any he has faced since taking over the leadership in 1955.

Since Kennedy and Nixon have an equal stake in the outcome, meaning election in November, the role each of them plays will be scrutinized harder than any they have played in the past.

If you have hopes for great accomplishments, keep your fingers crossed.

Junior Crime School in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A "Junior Apalachin" crime school directed by top mobsters and operating from the haunts of the old Murder Inc. gang has been smashed by Brooklyn police.

At least one teen-ager was slain in gangland style by the youthful syndicate as an object lesson to informers, detectives say.

Police swooped down on homes in Brooklyn and Queens in pre-dawn raids Wednesday. They arrested 22 persons accused of belonging to the crime-school gang and charged them with a series of burglaries that netted a half-million dollars over a two-year period.

Students in the "school" took lessons from established mobsters in murder as well as theft, police found in a gutter in the Bush said. Deputy Chief Inspector Raymond V. Martin added: "This was a Junior Apalachin group, being groomed for future activities in the crime syndicate."

He said the investigation is continuing and should turn up "some very big names in the following weeks."

The reference to "Apalachin" recalled the gangland meeting in Apalachin, N. Y., on Nov. 14, 1957. Of the 60-odd men attending the meeting, 20 were found guilty in federal court of conspiracy to obstruct justice in not divulging why they were at the conference.

Murder Inc., a murder-for-profit mob with headquarters in Brooklyn, was smashed almost 20 years ago.

The crime school gang was uncovered during the investigation of the gangland murder of a 17-year-old Brooklyn boy June 3.

The victim, Vincent Griffo, was thrown from a car, beaten and shot five times. His body was found in a gutter in the Bush Beach section of Brooklyn, where the old Murder Inc. mob operated. The area has been the scene of many gangland-style slayings. Police believed that Griffo had aroused the suspicions of other members of the gang who were afraid he would talk. He was slain only a few hours before he was to go into court on a charge of possessing burglary tools.

THE WOLF THAT RODE

THE STORY: In spite of the hostility of small ranchers, Brett Fasken, who has returned to Fasken's Crossing after a long absence, decides to stay on. He hears that his sister, Jo Fasken, has called a meeting to outlaw a rancher named Trone. Brett has met Lola Trone, a sister of the rancher,

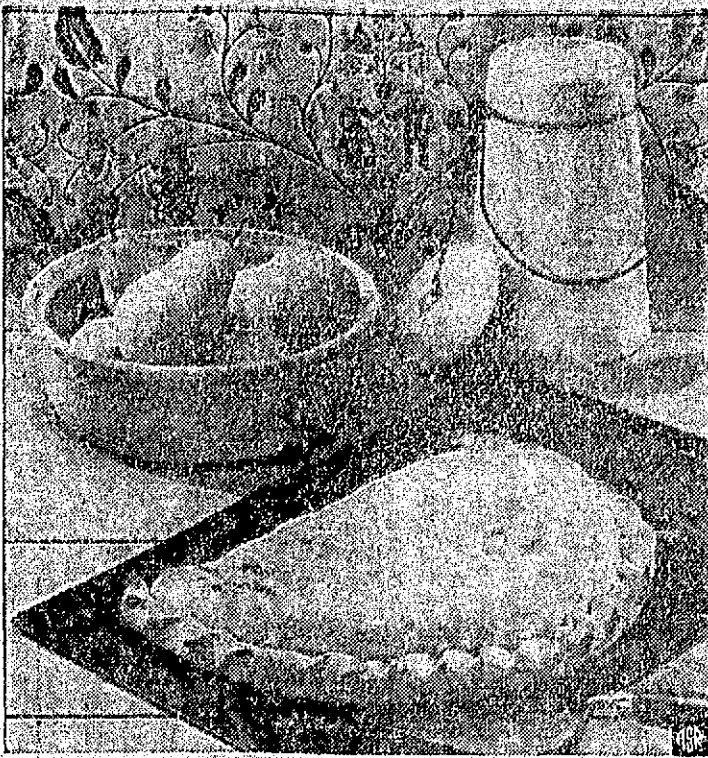

CHAPTER IV

The man was slim, a reedy youth with a too-bright stare, garbed in a store-bought suit of flashy checks. He was handsome in a weak, immature way and carried himself with considerable confidence. Brett could see any reason for that. Brett, watching him in the glass, thought: Here we go! and settled all the weight of his arms on his elbows. The West had a cull of this kind. Every year from the East was speeing with a board. The derby flew off them forth, at the rail ends and bounded over the floor. The thought this was the only export young man, both arms flapping, specimen it produced. They came stumbling back and sat down. Brett was wheeling away to get out of the place when a sharp intake of breath spun him into a wide-eyed crouch. The fellow he'd struck had a pawing hand buried to the wrist in his coat. Brett, acting on instinct, lunged forward with a roar. It was a thought snail's pace, satisfied, gun the kid had been fixing. The fellow, flushed, he got it caught in the lining. Brett's flying leap took him near enough to upset the fellow again, spilling him in a roll and sending him bounding after that forest of retreating legs.

No one laughed. Every face Brett's glance encountered showed a kind of crawling horror. He went after the kid, yanking him upright and holding him there by a fistful of coat with his dangling boots barely ranking contact with the floor. The kid didn't look so dapper with that sawdust all over him and the hair hanging down like a mop in his face and the whites of his eyes peering groggily through it. Brett shifted his grip, half minded to shake him. He thrust his free hand inside the checked coat and found the snagged pis-

Half-Moon Pie With Fresh Pears

You might describe this Amish Half-Moon Pie as a man-size turnover, wholesome as a Pennsylvania countryside. It is filled with fresh California Bartlett pears and cottage cheese.

Amish Half-Moon Pie

There's a trick to rolling out this mammoth turnover, but the reward in praise is well worth the trouble. Make up pastry for a double crust 9-inch pie. Chill thoroughly. Now core and slice 4 medium-sized fresh California Bartlett pears. Mix with 1/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, the rind and juice of 1/2 lemon and a dash of salt. Lightly stir in 1/2 pint creamed cottage cheese. If you like a spicy pie, sprinkle with cinnamon and nutmeg.

To Roll Out Pastry

Put a large sheet of waxed paper under a cookie sheet, extending about 12 inches beyond the sheet. Sprinkle with flour. Now roll out pastry in one big circle, half on the cookie sheet and half on the waxed paper. Top the cookie sheet half with the pear mixture; dot with butter or margarine and carefully fold over other half (use corners of waxed paper to pull pastry over). Crimp edges. Prick to allow steam to escape. Bake in hot oven (425°) 40 to 45 minutes or until crust is golden.

Construction Boom Hits Hotels Too

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The hotel business is joining the construction boom in New York City which as yet shows no sign of saturation. And across the country other cities have seen new hotels rising.

The American Hotel Assn. predicts that existing hotels will spend more this year than their 265-million-dollar outlay in 1959 just for modernization projects. Hotels are facing increased competition from the big spurge of motel building in the nation, and more recently from the inroads of motor hotels in downtown areas.

New York's spectacular boom in office building is one reason given why new hotels are planned to increase the available room supply for visiting businessmen.

As more corporations set up headquarters or branch offices on Manhattan Island, more executives from other parts of the nation are called in for consultation. And as big corporations with headquarters here have spread their plants around the country since the war, more management men are drawn to New York for reporting and planning sessions.

The growth of business conventions is another reason, and also the steady increase in the number of tourists inspecting the big town.

Loew's Theaters Inc., which is excavating for a 21-story hotel on the East Side of Manhattan, announces plans for a 50-story hotel on the West Side, to be the world's tallest. The two will be the city's first major hotels built since the 47-story Waldorf-Astoria, now the tallest, opened in 1931.

Plans for another huge hotel were recently junked by William Zuckendorf because of financing problems.

New York's hotel industry has played to full houses in most of the postwar years, with some slight dips in occupancy during business recessions, but with no vacancy signs frequent during business conventions and in those days when New York was host to the World Series.

Since 1947, Manhattan has seen 125 major office buildings added to the skyline. With those now under construction or with plans on file at the Department of Buildings, the total will be 147 with 51,307,000 square feet of rentable space.

Steals $700,000

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Israel Krongoll, 35, is being held on charges of stealing $700,000 in travelers checks. Police arrested him Monday after hearing reports of a lavish tipper making the rounds. They said he was carrying $120,000 in cash.

The checks disappeared in February en route from the First National City Bank of New York to its branch in Montevideo, Uruguay. Soon afterward they began turning up in France, Italy, Germany and Buenos Aires.

The situation may be cleared up meeting to discuss plans for the tomorrow. Karam has called a chapel.

This Frosty Coffee Cooler Shines At Bridal Showers

Brides are in season all the year long, but the sunny summer months, particularly, bring to mind the image of a smiling, white-gowned wife-to-be. Amid the flurry of pre-wedding activities, the traditional bridal showers rank high in importance.

At summer showers, as at all summer parties, the most appreciated refreshments are light and cooling. One of the smoothest beverages you can serve is this delicious new cooler combination—Coffee-Banana Whip. Remarkably easy to prepare, this favor duet comes to us courtesy of two tropical imports, bananas and coffee. The sliced fruit is blended at high speed with cooled coffee and coffee ice cream to make a delicious and fluffy new beverage treat. You can add petite sandwiches or cookies as perfect accompaniments.

Coffee-Banana Whip is comforting refreshment for warm weather kaisches, too, or for any evening gathering. It is sure to mean happy sipping for any member of the household. Put this recipe in your "cooler" collection, but don't bury it amid a stack of other recipes. Coffee-Banana Whip is a blessing on a hot summer day!

Coffee-Banana Whip

1 banana 1/2 pint coffee ice cream
1 cup strong coffee, cooled 1 tea-spoon vanilla

Cut banana into chunks. Combine with coffee, ice cream and vanilla in electric blender. Run blender at high speed until mixture is thick and fluffy. Makes 2 servings.

Fulbright Asks Money for Cotton

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) wants Congress to appropriate $105,000 to provide Arkansas cotton farmers with a special weather service like one in Mississippi.

Fulbright said yesterday, "the direct benefits to Arkansas farmers from such a small investment by the federal government would be extremely favorable."

In Mississippi, he said, farmers saved nearly two million dollars during a single year of the service. The service offers frequent weather bulletins to enable planters to avoid applying costly chemicals when they might be washed away by rain.

Congress already has approved

Nobody Against Capitol Chapel

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—No one has come out against the idea of a chapel in the Capitol. But there's some disagreement as to what sort of prayer room it should be.

Polaski Rep. Genn F. Walther said he thought it should be primarily for legislators and for state employees when the Legislature is not in session. He opposed a room open to the general public.

"I do not feel that the state should provide the equivalent of a church at the taxpayers' expense," Walther said. James T. Karam a Little Rock clothier who is leading the movement to put a chapel in the Capitol said it should be open to "anyone who needs Christ."

Walther said he hadn't known about Karam's views until yesterday.

Karam was out of town and not available for comment. But G. W. Blankenship, another chapel drive leader and Little Rock city director, said he had thought that various religious denominations, and not the state, would finance the chapel.

The situation may be cleared up tol, ripping it loose and sending it backhanded in revolving flight through the glass of a window. The crash and the fellow's ragged breathing were isolated sounds in the still, packed room.

The brittle quiet angered Brett, almost as much as the rest of it.

"You don't look like much to me," Brett said, and spun him around, grabbing hold of his collar. With his free hand catching up the slack of the kid's pants, Brett ran him a few feet to get him started and let go. The kid went like a heaved rock through the bay windows.

Brett... looked at the crowd. You'd have thought he had smallpox or something.

A scurrying, a muttering, a stagger of boot sound, came through the open windows. A pony crow-hopped, snorting. Leather squealed. Hoofs stamped hollowly across the groan of planks and the front of a horse abruptly parted the doors. Sunlight, gushing in around it, sped over the floor and up men's legs.

"You in there, Fasken! Next time we meet be healed."

Booting back one of the doors the kid whirled his horse with a brutal rein and was gone in a climbing thunder of hoofs.

"Cheap an' loud," Brett turned back to the bar.

There was a sudden sound of boots and Syd Stoker, the marshal, shoved in looking grim. "What's the matter with the kid?"

Brett turned around. "He needed a lesson. I give it to him."

There was a lot of things the marshal might have said and some of them Brett was halfway expecting, but Stoker handled this different. "You know who that was?"

Brett turned once more to pick up his whisky.

"That was Rhode Island Red?"

"Never heard of him," Brett said, and tossed off his drink.

"You will," Stoker growled.

"Do this town a favor and get out of here, will you?"

Putting his glass on the bar, he said, "I guess not." He thought of the warning that cheap John had given him. Who is he anyway?

Stoker locked eyes with him. "About the killin' varmint that's hit these parts. Four men in three years—that man I can tell you. Shot them down just like dogs, never movin' a hand."

"Better take my advice. That feller can remember clean back to the Ark."

He walked over and picked up the kid's dentured derby.

He stamped off through the bay windows still carrying the kid's hat.

"Get Clothes Ready For School," Says Mrs. Care

Mrs. Care suggests that with the end of summer come plans for fall activities. One of the most important of these activities is the back-to-school movement. It is a wise mother who checks wardrobes and gets garments off to the drycleaner in time to be ready for school. Of course, the neighborhood drycleaner can do emergency cleaning in a couple of hours, but it is better for all concerned to plan ahead.

Girls live in sweaters and skirts while boys wear slacks and sweaters or jackets—in school and out. Many of these garments have probably been worn off and on during the summer too. It is well to check these articles of clothing before school starts.

After the rush of the opening of school, such activities as football games and social parties present further problems. With young people, spots and stains are a constant occurrence. Mustard, catsup and soft drinks frequently get deposited on clothing. Here again the drycleaner can help. If you can tell him what the spots are and get stained garments to him before stains set. Regular cleaning also is important to protect the life of the clothing. The drycleaner is an expert in clothing care. Call on him for advice and assistance.

Steak, Roast Beef on Many Dinner Tables

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It will be steak and roast beef on most weekend dinner tables, judging from the specials featured by supermarkets and neighborhood stores.

Beef supplies are plentiful and are expected to reach an all-time high for the year.

Outdoor cooks will find much to choose from. Topping the bargain list are sirloin, round, rib and cube steaks along with the always popular ground chuck.

Roasts include chuck, rump and round.

In various sections of the country, meat counter features include smoked hams, leg of lamb and frying chicken.

Meat prices generally are down. Scallops top the fish specials. They are in unusually heavy supply.

Lesser supplies are expected to result in higher prices for canned and frozen vegetables.

Best buys among vegetables are green peppers, potatoes, eggplant, corn, radishes, green onions, cabbage, tomatoes, pascal celery, endive, escarole and beets.

Rated good buys are cucumbers, yellow and green squash, spinach, western onions, cauliflower, broccoli, western iceberg lettuce and carrots.

The Department of Agriculture calls watermelons and New Jersey and Pennsylvania peaches "tremendous buys."

Limes, blueberries and seedless grapes are in the best buy category. Other good buys include western peaches, mangoes, navel oranges, California Bartlett pears, plums and cantaloupes.

Marsh seedless grapefruit, avocados and red malaga and car-dinal grapes.

Viet Nam Is Cloaked in Blackout

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A communications blackout today cloaked the situation in Laos, where a rebel army group seized the administrative capital Tuesday and proclaimed a neutralist policy for the isolated jungle kingdom repeatedly threatened by the Communists.

Vientiane, the administrative capital, at last word was reported calm after an initial outburst of shooting that killed two persons. Pro-Western Premier Tian Sam-south and his government were reported safe in Luang Prabang, the royal capital of King Sisavang Vathana, 100 miles north of Vientiane.

All airline flights to Vientiane were cancelled, at least until Thursday. Telegraphic communication was suspended.

Vientiane radio has given no news broadcasts since an initial outburst of rebel communiques Tuesday.

Diplomatic advisers said there was no doubt the rebels were in firm control of Vientiane. Unconfirmed reports said they posted a guard around the airport and erected roadblocks in the city.

Rebel communiques announced the group would seek "friendly relations and a good neighbor policy with all countries who are so desirous," and would "receive economic assistance from all countries without reservation."

All foreign troops were asked to leave. This was directed at 24 U.S. military advisers and another small group of French who have been training the 30,000-man Laotian army to resist Communist-led Pathet Lao rebels.

Another rebel broadcast urged Americans and other foreigners to go about their work. A communique said all foreign property would be respected. There are 753 Americans in Laos, 261 of them connected with the U.S. military aid program.

Diplomatic sources in Hong Kong said they believe the rebel leader is Kong Le, a young anti-Communist paratroop captain trained in the United States at Ft. Benning, Ga. They said he is known to feel that the government has not been doing enough to support the army.

Under Communist threats, Laos has seen a saw-sawed back and forth between toleration of the Reds and closer ties with the West. The United States has supported the country's budget and its army, which has been deeply involved in Laotian politics.

Missing Workers Behind Curtain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said today that two missing employees of the national security council "now are behind the Iron Curtain" and may be able to aid Soviet intelligence forces.

"There is no doubt in my mind that they are now behind the Iron Curtain," Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told a reporter. "An intensive investigation still is under way."

Russell has been in close contact with top Defense Department officials who have been investigating the disappearance of Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, of Eureka, Calif., and William H. Martin, 29, of Ellensburg, Wash., former trained mathematicians for the top-secret security agency.

Cubans Told Castro Rule to Continue

By RICHARD VALERIANI
HAVANA (AP)—President Osvaldo Dorticos early today assured the Cuban people Fidel Castro's regime will continue "respecting all religious cults" despite "provocations."

Speaking at a post-midnight labor rally, the president made no specific mention of the Roman Catholic hierarchy's pastoral letter last Sunday warning of the advance of communism in Cuba. Nor did he refer to the threat Tuesday by the archbishop Coadjutor of Havana to close all Catholic churches on the island and suspend church services unless the government calls off pro-Castro demonstrators harassing anti-communist churchgoers.

But in an apparent reference to the pastoral letter, Dorticos said: "Those imputations will fall into a void and they will be applauded only by those who have interests that demand that applause."

Indicted Judge Loses Election

MENA, Ark. (AP)—John M. Gordon, former Polk County judge who was indicted on charges of alleged misconduct in office, lost his bid for renomination in yesterday's Democratic runoff primary.

Roy W. Stockton received 2,338 votes to Gordon's 1,965. Both are from Mena.

Gordon was indicted and removed from office shortly after he had filed for renomination. He has not been tried.

The White House has 132 rooms.

President George Washington had only four members in his cabinet. President Eisenhower has 10.

The president accused "counter-revolutionaries and pro-imperialists" of "wielding religious sentiments against the Cuban revolution."

"They are useless maneuvers and will destroy themselves," Dorticos declared. "All this will have to be defeated. Our energies must be reserved for greater battles."

Dorticos spoke a few hours after a demonstration outside Havana Cathedral sent the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Evelio Diaz hurrying to the presidential palace with a warning that he would close all Catholic churches in Cuba today and declare the church "in silence."

The Vatican's term for the church's restricted operations in Communist countries—unless the government guarantees the safety of churchgoers.

Msgr. Diaz has taken over administration of the church in Cuba as a result of the poor health of Manuel Cardinal Arteaga, 80.

There was no immediate official response to the archbishop's threat. A well informed church source said the churches actually would not be closed today.

The demonstration outside the cathedral was the third since July 17, when anti-communism was manifested publicly at a church service in the cathedral.

A gang of youths assembled outside the building during a high Mass in honor of Cuban priests. Eyewitnesses said the youths—some armed with steel bars and wooden clubs—shouted down with the Pope and "down with priests" and struck several worshippers as they left the cathedral.

TWO/MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF THE DOUBTING UNCLE

By DONALD J. SUBOL

"Are you sure no one has entered this room since your uncle's suicide?" asked Dr. Haledjian.

"Positive," replied young Lloyd Carstairs. "I have the only key."

It had been four days since Henry Fitzsimmons had taken his own life. He had left notes for the two men who now prepared to enter his bedroom.

In the notes, Fitzsimmons requested that a four-day waiting period be observed before the room was entered and the safe behind his portrait opened.

The $100,000 therein was to be divided equally between his alma mater and his only kin, young Carstairs.

Haledjian walked to the fireplace above which hung the portrait of the deceased. A plant was set on the mantel, its broad leaves turned to the wall and touching the canvas.

Haledjian carefully removed the plant, lest he knock it over, and swung back the portrait.

"Suppose you open the safe," he said to Carstairs. "I believe your note included the combination, too."

While the youth worked the dial, Haledjian crossed to the sunny window directly opposite the portrait. The window was locked from the inside.

"There was a click. The youth cried, 'The safe's empty!'"

"Suppose you open the safe," he said to Carstairs. "I believe your note included the combination, too."

"A bad lie," said Haledjian. "And a costly one. Now all the money will go to your uncle's alma mater."

WHAT WAS THE YOUTH'S MISTAKE?

"There was a click. The youth cried, 'The safe's empty!'"

"Of course," said Haledjian. "I have the money, which your uncle sent me. He wanted to test you—to see if you'd try to open the safe before the four days elapsed."

"I never was in here!" justified the youth.

"The window was locked from the inside."

Thinks Demo to Control Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats have scaled their worst hurdle to party unity and now could be able—thanks to their overwhelming numbers in both houses—to steamroller the Republicans for the rest of this abbreviated session of Congress.

As the drama unfolds in these blazing August days on Capitol Hill, the presidential campaign due to start in early September here are some very important figures to keep in mind.

In the Senate, the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 66-34 and in the House, where there are five vacancies, 280-162. Tuesday the Democrats showed what they could do to the Republicans when they chose to stick together.

They closed ranks with a bang—Northern Democrats and Southern Democrats together—to block a Republican attempt to force action on some civil rights bills.

Although earlier this year the Democratic-run Congress passed the second civil rights bill in the 20th century—the first was passed in 1957—President Eisenhower called for some civil rights legislation.

If the Democrats had permitted a Senate wrangle over civil rights that would have ended any hope for real accomplishment in this Congress before it adjourns.

Eisenhower breakfasted with his Republican leaders in Congress and one of them—Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois—promptly returned to the Senate and offered a two-point civil rights measure. Democrats from North and South—four exceptions—joined to smash the Republican proposal. This would indicate they're prepared to do the same to any further attempt in this field.

To Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate and his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Northern Negro vote next November will be important. So will the white Southern vote.

But both took a stand against the Republican move on civil rights. The Republican civil rights action was an attempt to get the Senate to snarl up in a Southern Democratic filibuster against any new civil rights measures that it couldn't bet on four measures which Kennedy considers of primary importance.

There are federal aid to education, housing, medical care, aged, and raising of the minimum wage.

The Democrats, because of their terrific majorities in both houses, have the numbers to pass the four measures mentioned by Kennedy since in both houses only a majority vote is necessary to pass a bill.

They face the possibility of one hitch—a veto by Eisenhower. Congress can repass a measure over a presidential veto only by a two-thirds vote in both houses and in both houses the Democrats lack a full two-thirds of the membership.

In this highly steamrolled election Eisenhower and his advisers will have to think twice before vetoing a measure which has broad popular appeal, such as the four measures listed by Kennedy.

There is an opposite side to this coin, very glistening for the Democrats to contemplate.

If, with their huge majorities, they do not pass the kind of legislation urged by Kennedy, the Republicans can ask the voters: why give control of Congress to the Democrats again in November if

Element of Chance Is Always There

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—The somewhat baucely physician said, quietly, "I'm not thinking about fear, but I know there is a certain element of chance."

You might think Dr. Nathan Ostfeld, a 50-year-old Los Angeles general practitioner, was preparing for a major operation.

In a way, he was.

The physician's fingers, carefully removed a screw from a bolt in the "Flying Cadet's" 1930 horsepower red and black, missile-nosed racer.

But he wasn't in an operating room. He was under a canopy on the blistering Salt Flats of western Utah where he hopes Thursday to drive a racing car faster than any man on earth—about 500 miles an hour.

The doctor spent two days on the flats checking his car before he made a couple of test runs at about 140 m.p.h. Tuesday.

The jet-engine racer's design is radical. The nose is patterned after a missile cone. The body is so excellent that the slightest round and the four-foot high wheels and tread uncovered to other, destroying valuable pellets, eliminate wind resistance.

"The wheels, each carved out of a 700-pound block of aluminum, will act like gyroscopes," said the physician. "We hope they will keep the car straight. At that high speed you can't turn the car if it goes into a skid. That's why we have the parachutes."

If something goes wrong at 500 miles an hour and I have to pop the chute, I'll get 16 Gs of deceleration (5,000 pounds pressure on this 5-1/2, 160 lb body). Then when the second chute goes, I'll get 8 Gs (4,000 to 6,000 pounds).

Mink farmers will softly around their animals. Milk are after a missile cone. The body is so excellent that the slightest round and the four-foot high wheels and tread uncovered to other, destroying valuable pellets,

Alford Seizes, Alford Declares

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) said today the United States should refuse to permit any further confiscation of American property in Cuba.

"It is obvious that Fidel Castro's real goal is the Guantanamo Naval Base," Alford told a civic club meeting.

The Castro regime has taken over many American investments in Cuba, Guantanamo, a key Caribbean naval base for this country, is located at the eastern end of Cuba.

Alford stressed that "the Communist threat is not something we read about in the papers—but is close to the border of the United States."
